1 P R O C E E D I N G S

2 THE COURT: Okay. We're here in Residential Capital
3 12-12020, actually, more particularly, in a series of adversary 4 proceedings. I'll read the case numbers. They're all 14- and 5 I'll just read the last digits. 01915, 01916, 01926, 01995, 6 01996, 01998, 01999, 02000, 02001, 02003, 02004, 02005, 02008, 7 02009.

8 Mr. Nesser?

9 MR. NESSER: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Isaac Nesser
10 for the ResCap Liquidating Trust. Here with me today are Brad 11 Ehrlichman, at my firm, Quinn Emanuel Urquhart & Sullivan, as 12 well as Jeff Lipps of the Carpenter Lipps firm.

13 As Your Honor indicated we're here just to, I think, 14 primarily follow up on discussion from our last appearance 15 concerning case management. If I can start, Your Honor, with 16 just a few updates since last we were here. There's been some 17 movement in terms of settlement.

18 First, Citizens First, which is a case in this court
19 and before Your Honor; we'd previously indicated that that case 20 had settled, in principle. That agreement is now signed. We 21 expect to be filing a discontinuance shortly.

22 Also First Republic and Bank of America -- that's case 23 number 14-2009 -- has settled, in principle, subject to 24 documentation. And we'll of course keep the Court updated as 25 that progresses.

1 As well, in Minnesota there's been some movement. The 2 case against First Citizens Bank, which is 13-CV-3514, has 3 settled, in principle, as well, our case against Countrywide
4 14-CV-1743 is settled, in principle. So there's been quite a 5 lot of activity.

6 Back in New York, in the district court, Judge Abrams, 7 as I think Your Honor may already know, issued an order 8 referring our cases against SunTrust to Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Has it hit the docket here yet?

10 MR. NESSER: It has not yet hit the docket. If 11 there's anything that we ought to be doing to facilitate that, 12 we're happy to do so.

13 THE COURT: It'll happen.

14 MR. NESSER: We have involved --

15 THE COURT: Is anybody -- is counsel for SunTrust 16 present in the courtroom?

17 MR. DOHERTY: I am, Your Honor. John Doherty, Alston
18 & Bird.

19 THE COURT: Thanks. Nice to see you.

20 MR. NESSER: And we've made sure that counsel for 21 SunTrust has been involved, or at least copied on 22 correspondence --

23 THE COURT: Sure.

24 MR. NESSER: -- through the meet and confer process.
25 Also, in the district court of Judge Daniels last week had us

1 in for a hearing on UBS's motion to withdraw the reference.
2 Judge Daniels, this morning, issued an order denying that 3 motion, without prejudice to reassertion, after Your Honor 4 resolves UBS's pending motion --

5 THE COURT: I saw the --

6 MR. NESSER: -- to remand.

7 THE COURT: -- an ECF reference to his order, but 8 obviously the transcript isn't available yet.

9 MR. NESSER: That's right. And would it be helpful
10 for Your Honor to have that transcript?

11 THE COURT: When it's ready, you can forward it to me.

12 MR. NESSER: As well, Your Honor, otherwise in the 13 district court, a number of the defendants here have filed 14 motions to withdraw their reference and to transfer, and those 15 motions are proceeding on the ordinarily schedule.

16 THE COURT: It would be --

17 MR. NESSER: Turning to --

18 THE COURT: -- helpful, Mr. Nesser, if you could post 19 on ECF a list of the cases in which motions to withdraw the 20 reference have been filed. I wouldn't necessarily see them.
21 They get filed here --

22 MR. NESSER: Yes.

23 THE COURT: -- obviously, and then referred to the 24 district court, and without going back and looking at the 25 docket in every one of the cases, it's harder for me to track

1 that, so it would helpful.

2 MR. NESSER: I can identify those now or --

3 THE COURT: No.

4 MR. NESSER: -- we can file it.

5 THE COURT: That's fine.

6 MR. NESSER: Turning to case management, Your Honor, 7 the parties, over the last couple of weeks, have, I think it's 8 fair to say, met and conferred extensively, and for the most 9 part, rather productively, to prepare the proposed case 10 management order that we filed on Friday, as Your Honor had 11 directed.

12 We've been able to resolve, consensually, a number of 13 disputed issues. There are just a handful that are remaining.
14 The first of those -- and I'll just march through them, unless 15 Your Honor has a different preference -- relates to the page 16 limits --

17 THE COURT: I do have a different preference.

18 MR. NESSER: Okay.

19 THE COURT: So I did review -- you submitted a draft 20 of the order showing plaintiff's proposals and defendants' 21 proposals, and I've been through that. In addition to what was 22 in the proposal, or either proposal, I've made some other 23 changes --

24 MR. NESSER: Okay.

25 THE COURT: -- to reflect my own thoughts about it. I

1 think before we do that, let me see whether any of the 2 defendants want to be heard preliminarily.

3 What I propose to do with respect to the case
4 management order -- and I commend everybody because I think 5 you've made very substantial progress in coming to an 6 agreement. I don't see the differences as that substantial, 7 and I appreciate the work that went into that.

8 But let me see, does anybody -- any of the defendants' 9 counsel wish to be heard before we go further? You don't have 10 to. Okay. That's fine.

11 UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: We can hear you --

12 THE COURT: Okay. That's fine. So let me flag the 13 issues that I want to discuss, and maybe I'll tell you how I've 14 resolved some of the differences as well.

15 So I'll start with -- I'm looking at the draft that 16 was submitted to me that showed both plaintiff proposals and 17 defendants' proposals. And I can tell you what else I've done.
18 So in the very opening paragraph -- and when I enter an order, 19 you'll obviously get to see it, so -- but I'm just adding a 20 sentence to the very opening paragraph to the effect that this 21 order may be made applicable to additional adversary 22 proceedings upon entry of a separate order providing for such 23 relief. So that if any other cases, like Judge Abrams' case, 24 hasn't hit the docket here yet, I probably won't wait for that 25 to happen to enter a case management order, but a separate

1 order will just be entered doing that.

2 So in paragraph 3, on lead docket, I conferred with 3 the Clerk of Court, to see how we could affect what I think 4 you're trying to accomplish, and so I'll read to you what I 5 propose to do. So there's a 2(a), "Any filing affecting two or 6 more of the above-captioned adversary proceedings shall be 7 filed, for administrative purposes only, in a newly created 8 docket, defined as the central docket, captioned In re: ResCap 9 Liquidating Trust Mortgage Purchase Litigation". That's going 10 to be the name. And then there will be an adversary proceeding 11 number. It hasn't been opened yet. I have the number. They 12 picked a number way down the line so that it doesn't interfere 13 with anything.

14 And "This filing should include the caption" -- "The 15 filing should include the caption of the central docket in each 16 case to which it applies. A filing on the central docket shall 17 be sufficient to give notice to all parties in these 18 proceedings. Any filing affecting only a single case shall be 19 filed with that case only. At such time as all cases included 20 within the central docket have been resolved, plaintiff's 21 counsel shall make a motion to close the case for the central 22 docket."

23 There's been some past experience where it's just sat 24 and nobody's done anything and so -- and then paragraph 2(b), 25 "A docket entry should be made in each adversary proceeding

1 that is now or hereafter become subject to this order 2 substantially as follows", and it just references the central 3 docket and so people know to go look there. Okay.

4 In paragraph 4, on the initial motion practice, 5 against my better judgment, I've sided with the defendants on 6 the page count, but I'll be very inhospitable if somebody comes 7 to me -- yeah it's thundering now. I just came in and it 8 was -- just started. I'll be very inhospitable if people come 9 and ask for longer pages. So the defendants want thirty-10 five/fifteen, and I put that in. There'll be thunder and 11 lightning if anybody asks for more.

12 Okay. So one of the things I've tried to do, and 13 everybody ought to keep this in mind, when you do orders that 14 relate to filing of pleadings, do everything in seven-day 15 multiples. It reflects the changes in the rules. So instead 16 of thirty days, I've put twenty-eight. It avoids the problem 17 about weekends and things like that. So when they changed the 18 Civil Rules and the Bankruptcy Rules, they did everything in 19 multiples of seven. I've tried to do that. If it's a date 20 that doesn't have to do with filing a pleading, I haven't been 21 so concerned about it.

22 So in 4(b), the thirty has turned to twenty-eight, and 23 in paragraph 5, the thirty has turned to twenty-eight.

24 Paragraph 6, there were no disagreements. I guess in 25 6(b) I'm going to change the thirty days to twenty-eight days.

1 MR. NESSER: Your Honor, there was some disagreement 2 on 4(c).

3 THE COURT: Hang on just a second. Oh, I've struck 4 it. I don't think it's needed.

5 Okay. So 6(b), the thirty changes to twenty-eight.

6 On 8(g), presumptive deposition limits, I've gone with 7 the plaintiff's proposal, but I want to make something clear so 8 that -- if people don't have it in front of them, this is the 9 presumptive limit on the length of depositions. The 10 presumptive limit is seven hours, but when I'm saying seven 11 hours, I fully anticipate that some of these depositions are 12 going to be more than seven-hour depositions, and I expect the 13 parties, in good faith, to seek to resolve the issue.

14 So what happens if you're taking a deposition and you 15 get to seven hours and everybody sort of agrees, yeah, 16 there's -- it's nonduplicative and there really is additional 17 material to be covered; you don't have to come back to me to 18 increase the seven-hour limit. The only time you have to come 19 to me is if you disagree about the length of the deposition.

20 What I expect to happen is that the parties are going 21 to work together in good faith to agree on reasonable limits.
22 The seven-hour limit -- the presumptive limit is intended to 23 force you to agree, and if you don't agree, the seven-hour 24 limit applies. And then when somebody arranges a prompt 25 telephone conference with the Court, and I find out that Mr.

1 Nesser, or one of his colleagues, has unreasonably tried to 2 impose a seven-hour limit, I'm going to say: come on, you're 3 kidding, this is really -- this is a two or three-day 4 deposition; you're not complaining that they're being 5 duplicative.

6 So it's just a safety valve, but I really do expect 7 I'm never going to hear from you about the length of the 8 depositions. People in good faith are going to work it out, 9 okay? So yes, I've put the seven-hour presumptive limit; I 10 expect it'll be rare, if ever, that I'm going to hear that 11 people are disagreeing about what the length of a deposition 12 should be. Okay?

13 A lot of depositions are going to be three or four 14 hours or two hours or one hour. It's just what I don't want to 15 happen is everybody thinks every deposition is going to be 16 five-day deposition; they're going to wear people down. And 17 that isn't going to happen. Okay? All right.

18 All right, expert discovery. I've adopted the 19 plaintiff's proposal of 180 days and then 45 days. I fully 20 anticipate, if the cases stay here with me, and we get further 21 down the road, we're going to have a discussion about this at a 22 subsequent case management conference. And if the defendants 23 persuade me, given the number of experts and the amount of work 24 that has to be done, we need more time, I'm going to grant more 25 time. Okay? But we're going to start with the dates, the 180

1 days to complete expert discovery and the other dates that are 2 in the plaintiff's proposal.

3 Okay. Sampling I do want to talk about, because at 4 least what I have down on my paper is a little different than 5 what either side has proposed. I'm closer to the plaintiff's 6 proposal, but not quite there.

7 Mr. Nesser, have you had discussions so far with 8 defendants' counsel about sampling?

9 MR. NESSER: We have, Your Honor, and what I can 10 report is yesterday I was informed by counsel for HSBC -- and I 11 don't want to put words in his mouth, but I was informed by 12 counsel for HSBC that, in the abstract, they are amenable to 13 sampling, as an approach in this case. Of course, they reserve 14 their right to dispute the particular methodology that we would 15 propose, but that they're open to sampling as an approach, and 16 moreover, that they, I think, are conceptually in agreement 17 that the sample ought to at least be the starting point, if not 18 the end point, for discovery. He's obviously reserved his 19 rights to seek additional documents, but it seemed to me as if, 20 in the first instance, there was some sense that the sample 21 ought to be the focus of discovery, if not the entirety.

22 As for the other defendants, there are three, maybe 23 more or less, that we expect probably will not be sampling 24 cases.

25 THE COURT: Well, somebody told me last time there

1 were only eighty loans --

2 MR. NESSER: Yeah, some of these cases --

3 THE COURT: -- you're not going to sample when you 4 have eighty loans.

5 MR. NESSER: Yeah, that's right. So some of these 6 cases are pretty small, and we expect that those won't be 7 sampling cases. The final decision on those we'll be making 8 over the next couple of week.

9 Other than that, Your Honor, we've asked -- I've 10 asked, repeatedly, for the defendants to give me some sense as 11 to, number one, whether they're amenable to sampling, in 12 principle, number two, whether they're amenable to limiting 13 discovery to the sample and have not, as far as I can recall, 14 heard any responses.

15 THE COURT: So your proposal was that you would -- 16 fourteen days after entry of the order you would propose a 17 sampling methodology to any defendant as to which plaintiff 18 intends to pursue -- prove through sampling. That's fine. You 19 can do that in fourteen days, I take it. You can be ready to 20 do that within fourteen days?

21 MR. NESSER: Yes, we expect to be able to.

22 THE COURT: Okay. I don't -- I mean, one size doesn't 23 fit all. If somebody's got just eighty loans, you're not going 24 to sample. If someone's got 10,000 loans, sampling is a little 25 different than if there's 3,000 loans.

1 MR. NESSER: Yes.

2 THE COURT: You obviously have your sampling expert, I 3 take it.

4 MR. NESSER: We've been discussing sampling with 5 various folks, yes.

6 THE COURT: So I'm fine about your holding your feet 7 to the fire and saying propose the sampling methodology in the 8 fourteen days. I also contemplate, but I want to hear 9 defendants' counsel, about saying within fourteen days after 10 they receive the proposed methodology they'll inform you 11 whether they agree to the proposed methodology.

12 Where I differ, somewhat, with what you proposed is 13 for every sampling -- defendant that does not agree to the 14 methodology, the parties shall meet and confer within fourteen 15 days after notification that the defendant does not agree to 16 the proposed methodology in an effort to agree on a sampling 17 methodology.

18 Okay. You're going to make a proposal to them, 19 they're going to come back and say no. Maybe they're going to 20 make a counter-proposal or maybe they'll say not now, never 21 ever. That's a different situation. If they come back with an 22 alternate proposal, I want to give you a couple of weeks to see 23 if you can work it out rather than firing off a motion.

24 MR. NESSER: Um-hum.

25 THE COURT: So I've built in -- and I want to hear

1 from defendants about it; I'm not saying this is exactly what 2 I'm going to go with, but the concept I have is you give them 3 your proposed methodology, if you're going to propose to 4 sample, they come back and they say -- if they say yes, fine; 5 if they say no -- if they say no, but we're open to sampling,
6 but you've got to do this, I want you to go and -- it works 7 best if you get whoever you're going to use to sit down with 8 whoever they're going to use, sampling expert, and try and 9 agree. And you avoid filing your in limine motion with respect 10 to them. So I want to build in a little bit of time to give 11 you a chance to work out the differences.

12 And then with respect to -- but I want it done sooner
13 rather than later, and that's why I rejected the defendants' 14 proposal. But I want to see if people can work it out.

15 I thought that your proposed page limits and briefing 16 were fine with me. And I suspect if somehow it turns out to be 17 more complicated, I'm going to hear cries that we need more 18 pages. But we'll -- so I should raise this right now. With 19 respect to any page limits that have been put in the order, I'm 20 hoping that people will abide by the page limits. But my 21 practice is not to require motions; if the defendants are 22 working on a motion to dismiss in the omnibus motion, they're 23 at thirty-eight or thirty-nine pages and the -- it's at thirty-24 five pages.

25 So you send a letter to the Court, with a copy to 1 opposing coun -- first you ask them if they have an objection.

2 If they don't, you send a letter to the Court and you tell
3 me -- I don't want motions, okay? Given the number of counsel
4 involved, telephone isn't -- I think everybody needs to know
5 what's going on. So just send a quick letter to the Court, 6 tell me what opposing counsel -- whether they consent or not.
7 I don't always agree. And if you say I want seventy-five pages
8 and the other side says yes, it isn't happening, okay? So 9 don't think just because the other side consents that I will 10 agree. But I don't want motions; just send a letter to the 11 Court; you'll get an answer very quickly, okay? Sometimes 12 these issues -- you're two days away from the deadline for 13 filing a brief, and you need to know. Okay? You'll get an 14 answer quickly, okay? I just -- that goes for all the motion 15 practice, okay? Shorter is better than longer.

16 And the other observation I'd make is -- I'm sure none 17 of you would ever do this, but I get so many briefs, the first 18 ten pages of which repeat the history of ResCap. Don't. Okay?
19 Just deal with the issue -- just go right into the issue that 20 you're dealing with. Save the preliminaries. I've lived with 21 the case. All right? It's a lot easier to make the page limit 22 when you don't give me eight pages of history that don't really 23 bear on the motion that's before the Court. Okay.

24 Paragraph 12 on ADR. Again, I want to hear from both 25 sets of counsel. So I've broken this down into subparagraphs

1 (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), and (g), but here's where my 2 thinking is. I said at the last hearing that I believe -- 3 first off, I'm a big believer in mediation, but to be 4 meaningful, the parties have to have -- particularly the 5 defendant -- they have to have sufficient information to make 6 an intelligent decision about it.

7 So you indicated a disagreement. You listed -- said
8 that the plaintiffs -- the defendants wanted three categories 9 of information. You said you will only do two of the three 10 categories of information. I'm prepared to order you to 11 provide the information in categories 1 and 2.

12 In the draft that I have, plaintiff -- "The Court 13 believes that these actions could benefit from early mediation.
14 Mediation will be most meaningful if plaintiff has first 15 provided defendants with information helpful to the defendants 16 in evaluating the settlement alternatives. The defendants have 17 identified categories of information that they believe would 18 facilitate evaluation of the settlement. Plaintiff has agreed 19 promptly to deliver to defendant, subject to Federal Rule of 20 Evidence 408, all the reasonably accessible nonprivileged 21 information with respect to two of the three categories of 22 information requested by defendants. Those categories are as 23 follows" -- and I just copied exactly. "The Court directs that 24 all reasonably accessible nonprivileged information in the 25 above 2 categories shall be produced to defendants, subject to 1 FRE 408, within twenty-eight days from the date of the order.

2 Okay.

3 Then in the next subparagraph (y), and I really want 4 to test this out, whether you think you're prepared to do this, 5 because I really would like this to happen. It says, "Counsel 6 for all parties shall confer promptly seeking to agree on a 7 mediator to conduct a global omnibus mediation (to be followed, 8 if the mediator deems appropriate, with separate mediation
9 sessions in each of the cases). The mediation shall commence 10 as soon as possible after the twenty-eight-day period in which 11 plaintiff will produce documents to the defendants as provided 12 in this paragraph. If the parties cannot agree on a single 13 mediator, within fourteen days from the date of the order, they 14 shall notify the Court which shall then determine how a 15 mediator shall be appointed."

16 Then in the next subparagraph, and I want to hear from 17 you about this, "The cost of the mediator shall be split evenly 18 between plaintiff and defendants for all omnibus mediation 19 sessions and the work of the mediator in connection therewith.
20 The cost of the mediator shall be split evenly between the 21 plaintiff and the defendant for any separate mediation sessions 22 and the work of the mediator in connection therewith."

23 And then the next subparagraph, "The mediator is 24 authorized to direct the parties to provide any additional 25 nonprivileged information that the mediator believes would be

1 helpful in resolving the cases." So if the defendants prevail 2 on the mediator, look, we really need this additional 3 categories of document, I'm going to leave it, as I always do, 4 to the mediator to decide what should happen.

5 And then the next subparagraph, "Unless otherwise 6 ordered by the Court, the omnibus mediation and the separate 7 mediation shall be concluded within ninety days of the initial 8 omnibus mediation session. Unless otherwise ordered by the 9 Court, none of the deadlines for any other pre-trial 10 proceedings set forth in this order shall be extended or 11 modified as a result of any ongoing mediation."

12 And you ought to be able to figure out in ninety 13 days -- I think you'll settle some cases and you won't settle 14 some others, but let's get it -- it doesn't stop you to 15 continue to settle -- talk settlement during the case, but I 16 think ninety days to see whether you can do it.

17 Let me stop here. I mean, the real question is do you 18 think, realistically, you can all agree on one person to be a 19 mediator, an omnibus mediator?

20 MR. NESSER: We could certainly try, and I'm hopeful 21 that we'll be able to agree. Obviously easier for me to say 22 than fifteen sets of defendants.

23 THE COURT: Yes. So what I've done in cases like 24 Dewey -- but there are different kinds of cases; I've got all 25 of these avoidance actions, right, and so I said identify five

1 mediators, but they're mediating separate cases. Limit the 2 number, so if one has a conflict another one doesn't.

3 MR. NESSER: Right.

4 THE COURT: And people -- they have a learning curve, 5 they get up to speed, they're familiar with the case. I think,
6 to start out, if you can agree on one mediator, I suspect 7 you -- most all of you will be able to agree on the kind of 8 person you want to be a mediator, somebody who you know will be 9 fair, who may have some knowledge about the issues involved, 10 and see where you go.

11 I mean, so when I've done the five mediators, no one's 12 ever come back to me and said we couldn't agree on one. I 13 think, in some cases, I've done three. I've been reluctant to 14 have too small a number, but I think -- my sense, and I could 15 be wrong about this, is that defendants who are seriously 16 interested in settling the case, if a reasonable settlement can 17 be worked out, to put it euphemistically, don't want to have 18 egg on their face because somebody else made a better deal than 19 they did. And sort of coming up with some -- the benefit of 20 the omnibus mediation is you may be able, in the context of an 21 omnibus mediation, to agree on a set of principles that, when 22 applied to individual cases, will give a number that everybody 23 thinks is fair. So I think there's an advantage of doing it.
24 It's different than the normal preference kind of cases that 25 come up. So let me see whether there's anything else that I

1 wanted to give a chance for people to talk about.

2 I think that's pretty well it. Do you want to 3 comment, or do you want to give others a chance to address any 4 of these issues, Mr. Nesser?

5 MR. NESSER: No, Your Honor, the only other issue I'd 6 had on my list was whether you had any further guidance for us 7 in terms of coordination with Minnesota.

8 THE COURT: Well, so I put two things in this draft.
9 One paragraph says, "Plaintiff shall provide a copy of this 10 order to each district judge in the Southern District of New 11 York before whom a motion to withdraw the reference in any of 12 the cases carried by this order had been filed." It's just to 13 let him know things are moving along.

14 And then I put a paragraph, and I debated whether to 15 have you do it or whether I would do it. But the way I have it 16 drafted is, "The Court intends to send a copy of this order to 17 each judge in the United States District Court for the District 18 of Minnesota before whom a similar case commenced by 19 Residential Funding Company, LLC or ResCap Liquidating Trust is 20 currently pending, for the purpose of permitting each judge to 21 consider whether a common schedule should be established in all 22 similar cases raising common issues, whether pending in New 23 York or Minnesota. The Court is prepared to adjust the 24 schedules set forth in this order to accommodate a common 25 schedule in all of the cases."

1 So if there -- quite frankly, if there was one or two 2 judges that had the cases, I would tell you I just want to 3 pick -- I want to call the judge. Ten judges, it's just not 4 realistic.

5 MR. NESSER: Your Honor, what I can tell you, in that 6 respect, is that a couple of the ju -- two of the judges in 7 front of whom -- two of the district court judges, in front of 8 whom we appeared in Minnesota, suggested, without committing, 9 that it seemed to them as if this case might be appropriate for 10 referral to a single magistrate in Minnesota for the purposes
11 of coordinating at least discovery. It's not clear to us yet 12 whether that will happen and how that will happen, and whether 13 the views of the two judges we heard from reflect the views of 14 other judges in that district. But certainly, if that were to 15 occur, you would wind up with one judge in Minnesota.

16 THE COURT: Yes. So what I probably -- I'll listen to 17 what everybody has to say, but what I would probably do is 18 attach this to an e-mail addressed to the judges. So if there 19 weren't ten, I would probably do it as a draft and suggest --

20 MR. NESSER: Right.

21 THE COURT: -- but here I'll just enter an order, send 22 it, say what I said. Then I'm certainly open to adjusting the 23 schedule if others wa -- I think a common schedule makes a lot 24 of sense.

25 Other points you want to make, Mr. Nesser?

1 MR. NESSER: Nothing else, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: So let me hear from defendants' counsel.

3 MR. JOHNSON: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Matt
4 Johnson of Williams & Connolly, representing HSBC Mortgage Corp.

5 I'm going to be very brief. The only issues that I 6 would like to get clarification --

7 THE COURT: Um-hum.

8 MR. JOHNSON: -- on are with respect to the ADR issue.

9 THE COURT: Yes.

10 MR. JOHNSON: Has Your Honor proposed a time limit, 11 after defendants receive those two categories of documents, for 12 the omnibus mediation to occur?

13 THE COURT: Well, I suppose, yes, because I've said -- 14 I said as soon -- the mediation should start as soon as 15 reasonable possible after the twenty-eight days to get the 16 documents, okay, and that's going to be subject to a lot of 17 schedules, okay, and the mediator's schedule. Okay? And I've 18 said ninety days from the first mediation session. So I 19 haven't put an absolute deadline, because you're going to 20 have -- given the number of lawyers and a mediator's schedule, 21 I would hope that it would happen -- you ought to be able to 22 get something scheduled. And then I -- once it starts, I want 23 ninety days.

24 MR. JOHNSON: Okay.

25 THE COURT: And that's -- does that work for you, Mr.

1 Johnson?

2 MR. JOHNSON: I think it does, subject to -- and I 3 think Your Honor's made this clear, if we need to come back and 4 it's going to be a little after ninety days, we'll let the 5 Court know and we'll come back. I think the -- frankly, I 6 think the bigger issue than the coordination of schedules is 7 going to be the chance to actually use this information and 8 evaluate it to look at each defendants' respective case and 9 prior to going to mediation, figuring out, okay, what situation 10 are we in, what does this look like. Defendants, quite 11 honestly, just are not in a position to do that now, and that's 12 why we've requested this information.

13 Secondly, I had a question regarding defendants' 14 proposed paragraph 14 and whether that was included in its -- 15 it was entitled "No waiver or prejudice" --

16 THE COURT: Oh, I put that in.

17 MR. JOHNSON: Okay. Okay.

18 THE COURT: I did.

19 MR. JOHNSON: Thank you.

20 THE COURT: I'm sorry I didn't -- I used -- I included 21 it exactly as you drafted it.

22 MR. JOHNSON: Okay. And lastly, Your Honor, just 23 to -- lastly, on my account, just to update Your Honor on, kind 24 of, the goings on in the litigation -- and I would agree with 25 Mr. Nesser that we engaged in extensive meet and confer

1 sessions, with both defendants, collectively, and also with 2 plaintiff's counsel, with respect to the CMO. And I certainly 3 hope that, going forward, we can continue to cooperate.

4 In that regard, and following up on Your Honor's 5 comment at the last scheduling conference, defendants 6 collectively sent a letter yesterday to Mr. Nesser regarding 7 priority discovery requests. Obviously we haven't served 8 discovery requests yet, but we sent this letter to let 9 plaintiffs know that discovery requests would be coming, and I 10 think there were six -- yeah, six particular categories of 11 documents that we let plaintiffs know -- that we let plaintiff 12 know we would be seeking in our discovery request, and that we 13 would hope plaintiff would agree to prioritize the production 14 of.

15 THE COURT: So we heard -- and what I would hope would 16 happen, and it sounds like this is what you've done; you told 17 them what you want first.

18 MR. JOHNSON: Exactly.

19 THE COURT: Okay. And my view is they should try and 20 honor what you want first. I got a little nervous when I heard 21 you say "priority discovery". I don't believe in priority of 22 discovery because you served your request before they served 23 their request, okay.

24 But on the point of when you tell them it would be 25 most helpful to us to get this first, the order provides for

1 rolling discovery. And I don't appreciate when the response of 2 the opposing party is to provide the dribble first that's the 3 least meaningful to the case. Okay. So sometimes it's hard to 4 get the stuff you want first, but you have -- I assume -- look,
5 I assume you're going to work it out. And you're all good 6 counsel, and I assume you're going to work it out, and I'm not 7 going to hear about it. And if you have a problem, you arrange 8 a call and we deal with it promptly without any writings, okay?

9 MR. JOHNSON: Understood, Your Honor. Would you like 10 a copy of the letter or --

11 THE COURT: I don't think I need to see it --

12 MR. JOHNSON: Okay.

13 THE COURT: -- unless Mr. Nesser thinks I need to see 14 it.

15 MR. NESSER: No, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Okay.

17 MR. JOHNSON: And with respect to sampling, Your 18 Honor --

19 THE COURT: Yes.

20 MR. JOHNSON: -- it's a very, very important issue, 21 and one that certainly is worthy for discussion. And on that 22 issue, my partner, Hat Wiegmann, is going to speak. He's 23 been --

24 THE COURT: Okay.

25 MR. JOHNSON: -- focused on this issue extensively.

1 THE COURT: Thank you.

2 MR. WIEGMANN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Hat
3 Wiegmann from Williams & Connolly, on behalf of HSBC Mortgage.

4 Your Honor, I won't try to talk you out of our -- 5 agreeing to our original proposal, which was to wait until 6 expert discovery to decide the sampling methodology.

7 THE COURT: You're right in not trying to talk me out 8 of it.

9 MR. WIEGMANN: But what I would say is -- I guess I 10 would beg for as much time as possible. To our knowledge, 11 there has never been a case in which a court has approved a 12 sampling methodology for an originator's specific methodology 13 applied across multiple securitizations, which is what we have 14 here. That was not the case in the FHFA litigation, much 15 simpler sampling problem. It's very complicated here, very 16 factual-specific. It's going to take a lot of careful and 17 complex assessment, and we think that the more complete the 18 factual record on which that is done, the better. Right now, 19 if we proceed under the plaintiff's schedule, we are really 20 hamstrung, because we would be assessing this in a vacuum.
21 Right now, we don't know the loans that are at issue in the 22 case, at least in our complaint, the HSBC --

23 THE COURT: How many loans did you sell to them?

24 MR. WIEGMANN: I don't even have that information 25 after

1 THE COURT: Well, that you ought to you should have 2 that in hand.

3 MR. WIEGMANN: We've been work

4 THE COURT: I can't believe you don't have that 5 information.

6 MR. WIEGMANN: Well, Your Honor, we've sold them over 7 a long

8 THE COURT: Ask Mr. Johnson. Do you know

9 MR. WIEGMANN: Over a long period of time it was 10 3,500, but I don't know whether all of those 11 THE COURT: That's not a lot of loans.

12 MR. WIEGMANN: all of those are at issue in the 13 case or not.

14 THE COURT: But that 3,500 loans is not a lot of 15 loans.

16 MR. WIEGMANN: Well, okay. Thirty-five hundred loans.

17 THE COURT: In FHA FHFA, you know, it started out 18 talking about 20 or 30,000 loans there were.

19 MR. WIEGMANN: Right. The samples in that case were 20 larger than the loans that are at issue in this case.

21 THE COURT: No, well no they weren't, but that's 22 okay.

23 MR. WIEGMANN: So, Your Honor, we don't know what 24 securitizations the loans were put into. We don't have so 25 we don't know we're not able to compare our loans to the

1 other loans that are in those pools. We don't have the loan 2 data tapes that have the relevant information, both for our 3 loans and for the other loans in the pool. We need to be able 4 to assess the homogeneity of the sample.

5 My only point is there's a great deal of work to be 6 done.

7 THE COURT: May I ask you this? Do you have a 8 sampling expert?

9 MR. WIEGMANN: We have retained a sampling expert.

10 THE COURT: So I would just say that and you may be 11 very experienced in dealing with statistical sampling issues, 12 but what I found as a practicing lawyer and since I've been on 13 the bench is that lawyers are very poor interlocutors with 14 respect to the nitty-gritty details, and that what you should 15 be endeavoring to do is you and your sampling expert sit down 16 with Mr. Nesser and his sampling expert and start to hash this 17 out. And I think you will resolve a lot of the issues. But if 18 you're going to be the interlocutor for your person and Mr.
19 Nesser or his colleagues for his person, the next thing I'll be 20 hearing is we need months more to discuss this.

21 Okay. What I contemplate is look, if you wind up 22 litigating the case to judgment, fine. Whatever court that is, 23 that'll happen. History, in all the courts that have had RMBS 24 related cases, most of the cases settle. Do it painlessly and 25 get it done more quickly.

1 I don't think I'm equipped at this point to address
2 the substance. I understand the points you've made, and I'm 3 not ready to adjust the schedule. I think what I've tried to 4 build is this concept of they give you their methodology. You
5 respond. You say no, never, in which case I'll have a motion, 6 or you say we're open to the concept but this doesn't work. We 7 don't have enough information. We don't do this. Then you can 8 sit and confer, get your experts together. You better have 9 your sampling expert.

10 I can't imagine, Mr. Nesser, you're proposing a 11 methodology where you don't have your expert already engaged.

12 MR. NESSER: We do, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Okay. So your first order of business is 14 to get them together. I don't care what your ground rules are.
15 If you want it without prejudice, that it can't be used for any 16 purpose other than to resolve this thing, neither of you have 17 to worry about ammunition for later deposition.

18 Okay? I want you to work this out as a practical 19 matter and don't be the interlocutor to do it. Get your 20 experts together with you, but

21 MR. WIEGMANN: Understood, Your Honor. So we will 22 take up the issue with the plaintiffs.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. WIEGMANN: If we don't have the data to 25 appropriately assess the methodology then we will inform the

1 Court in our motion papers, if it comes to that, that we don't 2 have the data to competently assess what they've done.

3 THE COURT: Okay.

4 MR. WIEGMANN: And we'll alert you to that.

5 THE COURT: Okay. Anything else?

6 MR. WIEGMANN: Thank you, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Thank you very much.

8 Mr. Johnson, is there anything else you wanted to 9 MR. JOHNSON: No, Your Honor. I think there may be 10 some other defendants

11 THE COURT: Okay.

12 MR. JOHNSON: who would like to be heard.

13 THE COURT: That's fine.

14 MR. JOHNSON: Anybody else want to be heard? Come on 15 up.

16 MR. FUMERTON: Yes, Your Honor. Robert Fumerton from 17 Skadden, Arps on behalf of UBS RESI. Like Mr. Wiegmann, we've 18 dealt with this sampling issue extensively on behalf of UBS and 19 FHFA in the NCUA cases. As a threshold issue my client, unlike 20 a lot of other defendants here, did not originate a single loan 21 at issue here. Plaintiff alleges there are 1,900 loans we sold 22 to them. We don't have any of those loan files. As far as we 23 know plaintiff doesn't have any of those loan files. And 24 locating those loan files, and, just as importantly, the 25 applicable loan guidelines, is an enormous task, and in many

1 instances in other litigations we've had against this law firm 2 they've been only able to locate barely half of loan files in 3 the proposed sample.

4 Your Honor, Your Honor's asking that we meet and 5 confer with plaintiff about proposed sampling methodology. We 6 have no problem, in the abstract, if plaintiff attempts to 7 prove their case through sampling. We think there's going to 8 be such a small number of loans after our motion to dismiss 9 that sampling may not be necessary.

10 THE COURT: You really think so?

11 MR. FUMERTON: But, Your Honor, in an adversarial 12 system, respectfully, we can't be in a position where our 13 expert has to say you're using this proposed methodology to try 14 to prove claims against our client. You should do this 15 differently. You should sample more. You should do a 16 different type of sampling. You should get more originators.

17 THE COURT: You know, I've read some transcripts of 18 arguments in some of the cases where counsel standing in your 19 shoes have it sounds like you're almost reading the 20 transcripts of the arguments that were made and rejected in 21 those cases.

22 Your argument is premature, okay? I take your point 23 that UBS didn't originate any of the loans. How many 24 originators did it buy loans from?

25 MR. FUMERTON: We bought we bought

1 THE COURT: Yes.

2 MR. FUMERTON: We bought loans from twenty-five,
3 thirty originators. We don't know, because plaintiff hasn't 4 identified the specific loans at issue, how many originators 5 are at issue. But what I can tell Your Honor is no one 6 disagrees, in the abstract, that sampling can work under 7 certain circumstances. The two ways sampling falls apart in 8 these cases are one, the sample's not representative of the 9 target population, and, two, the margin of error is too high.
10 We can't address that based on abstract methodology. We can't 11 even address that based on a list of loan numbers. A list of 12 loan numbers on what they claim their sample is going to be is 13 a fairy tale. They can't find those loan files. We don't have 14 them. They don't have them. In the other cases we're 15 litigating before Judge Cote right now, in the MARM Trust v.
16 UBS case they were only able to find half of the loan files in 17 their sample. For one originator they couldn't find any of 18 them.

19 THE COURT: May I ask you? Are these cases that UBS 20 has brought against originators complaining about breach of 21 representations and warranties in the loans you purchased?

22 MR. FUMERTON: No. These are cases where we're sued
23 by a trustee. We're sued by Fannie and Freddie in the FHFA 24 litigation.

25 THE COURT: Right.

1 MR. FUMERTON: And we did make these arguments to 2 Judge Cote, but she didn't disagree with them. She recognized 3 the difficulty in finding loan files and finding guidelines.
4 That's why Judge Cote did not approve any sampling methodology.
5 She did not allow them to make a motion in limine, which is 6 exactly what they're seeking here.

7 What Judge Cote did is something very different. She 8 said based on the list of loan files they provided, given the 9 information you have at this time, if you have a 702 challenge 10 based on that information you have to make it now. She did not 11 endorse a sampling methodology or preclude defendants from 12 coming back after a full record and saying look. You couldn't 13 find these loan files. Therefore your sample is not 14 representative, your margin of error is too high, and all of 15 the other arguments that we'll have under 702.

16 THE COURT: Okay. So I would just come back to this.
17 I'm not rejecting your argument. I'm just telling you your 18 argument is premature, okay?

19 But let me ask Mr. Nesser. How are you going to 20 propose a sampling methodology to UBS? Do you have loan files?
21 Do you have the loan numbers? What information do you have 22 specifically with respect to the UBS loans on which you're 23 suing?

24 MR. NESSER: Your Honor, we know what the loans are.
25 We know what the loan numbers are. We know what the loan types

1 are. We know what the performance of those loans has been.

2 And so we have, obviously, additional information.

3 All of this information, by the way, we believe is 4 equally available to counsel for UBS. And based on the 5 information that we have available we believe that we can 6 generate a sampling methodology that is enough to have a 7 meaningful meet and confer, certainly, as well as enough to 8 have a meaningful motion to Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: So what I'm approving is a provision in 10 the case management order that tells you how to go about it 11 from today. I thought about whether the fourteen-fourteen-12 fourteen time periods were enough time, whether that was enough 13 time. And it may or may not be. And it may be that Mr.
14 Fumerton is going to convince me you make your motion
15 he's going to convince me that with respect to UBS the Court 16 can't approve sampling methodology for the reasons that he 17 argued, which it's almost like a broken record of transcripts 18 I've read in other cases where the argument's been made and 19 rejected. Okay? I don't know, because I don't have facts 20 today. And I either will have facts when you make a motion or 21 you'll work it out, which is the preferable course.

22 I'm not going to pretermitt the exercise to try and 23 this case cries out for sampling methodologies, plural, because 24 it may not be the same for all. One size doesn't fit all. And 25 it's my intention to move these cases. It may be you'll be

1 unsuccessful with your motion, because you won't be able to 2 satisfy the Court that sufficient information is available at 3 the present time. We don't whether the sample is going to 4 work, not work, et cetera. But we'll see.

5 All right. Anybody else want to be heard?

6 MR. FUMERTON: Your Honor, may I make two brief 7 points?

8 THE COURT: If it's about sampling, I don't want to 9 hear it.

10 MR. FUMERTON: Can I hand up a decision from Judge 11 O'Toole just two months ago on this exact issue in

13 MR. FUMERTON: the Federal Home Loan Bank case?

14 THE COURT: Yes. Did you give it to Mr. Nesser?
15 Thank you.

16 Okay. I'm not making any decision for today. The 17 only decision I'm making is what's going into the case
18 management order, and we'll see. Yes, it's going to move you 19 along. And we'll see what happens.

20 Okay? You have any other points other than sampling?

21 MR. FUMERTON: Your Honor, just for clarification

22 THE COURT: Do you have any other points other than 23 sampling?

24 MR. FINKELSTEIN: Your Honor, this is Mark Finkelstein

25 MR. FUMERTON: Thank you, Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: Hold on.

2 MR. FINKELSTEIN: for Cadence Bank.

3 THE COURT: Hold on.

4 MR. FINKELSTEIN: Yes, sir.

5 THE COURT: All right. Go ahead. Identify yourself 6 again.

7 MR. FINKELSTEIN: This is Mark Finkelstein, 8 F-I-N-K-E-L-S-T-E-I-N, for Cadence Bank.

9 THE COURT: Thank you. Go ahead.

10 MR. FINKELSTEIN: You're welcome. My question is I'm 11 new to this, so I don't understand how why it's structured the 12 way it is, but I'm wondering why at the time that plaintiff 13 tells us it intends to pursue proof through sampling with 14 respect to my client, why plaintiff can't also provide me not 15 only with the methodology but with the proposed sample? Why do 16 I have to commit to agree to plaintiff's sampling methodology 17 before I know what the sample looks like?

18 It seems like it's a Catch-22 or a trick. And maybe 19 I'm just the only one who sees it that way, but I would prefer 20 to visit with plaintiff about all the loans that he thinks are 21 at issue, which is the information I've been requesting since 22 the inception of this case, so that we can identify those loans 23 with respect to which plaintiff thinks there were defaults or 24 other failures to comply with the representations and 25 warranties that plaintiff thinks are actionable, and then we

1 can look at those loan files. Even though there are 6,500 of 2 them so far I don't view that as a big number of loans. And so
3 my problem is if I know the methodology and I know which loans 4 are at issue I can readily respond to plaintiff within probably 5 not fourteen days but some reasonable period of time

6 THE COURT: No, fourteen days.

7 MR. FINKELSTEIN: about whether or not we're in 8 dispute.

9 THE COURT: No, fourteen days.

10 MR. FINKELSTEIN: Pardon me?

11 THE COURT: No, you're going to have fourteen days.

12 MR. FINKELSTEIN: No, I know well, the way it's 13 structured I have fourteen days to say whether or not I agree 14 to the methodology, but why can't I also have the sample?

15 THE COURT: Well, it sounds like you've already been 16 speaking with Mr. Nesser. If you haven't, I encourage you to 17 do it. And certainly when you get their proposed sampling 18 methodology, to the extent you think it's disclosed 19 insufficient information don't wait the fourteen days to file 20 an objection. Pick up the phone. You ought to be talking to 21 each other right now and trying to hammer out as many of these 22 issues as possible.

23 I'm not unsympathetic to the point you're raising, and 24 I'm not looking forward to having a large in limine motion 25 filed with factual issues as to many of the defendants such

1 that the Court can't resolve the motion at that point or has to 2 deny it without prejudice. That's not going to advantage the 3 plaintiff if that's the result. But nor do I take kindly to 4 the approach of a defendant that sits back its fourteen days, 5 files an objection that just says you haven't given us 6 sufficient information, and then basically does a rope-a-dope 7 defense rather than sit down and try and work it out.

8 I expect the parties to discuss in good faith and try 9 and resolve the issues regarding sampling. I don't intend to 10 steamroller over defendants. The defendants are entitled to 11 know what the basis for the proposed methodology is and have 12 adequate information to be able to respond, to have your own 13 experts look at the proposal and see what works, what doesn't 14 work, how it has to be adjusted.

15 So the defendants shouldn't leave here today thinking 16 that the Court has already decided that I'm going to stamp 17 whatever Mr. Nesser gives me, because that isn't going to 18 happen. If Mr. Nesser wants his sampling methodologies to 19 succeed he better come forward with sufficient information to 20 show that the sample is the appropriate size and quality and 21 historical information is available and all the other things 22 that are going to be required.

23 It's not going to get decided today. We're going to 24 get this ball rolling, though.

25 All right. Anybody else want to be heard?

1 MR. FINKELSTEIN: Thank you, Your Honor.

2 MR. LEVY: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Richard Levy 3 of Pryor Cashman. I represent Synovus Mortgage, which is the 4 Southeast regional lender regional originator, and Primary 5 Capital, which is a third party seller of loans.

6 My concern on the sampling, Your Honor, is one that 7 goes to the point Your Honor made about attorneys being poor
8 interlocutors on these kinds of technical matters. Your Honor 9 is suggesting that we need to have experts. Neither of my 10 clients yet have experts in these actions, which are basically 11 five or six weeks old.

12 The structure that's been proposed today puts us in a 13 position where we have a fourteen-day window where the 14 plaintiff gives us information, a fourteen-day period where 15 we're supposed to be able to respond.

16 Experts aren't going to be hired tomorrow. It just 17 doesn't happen that way. And Your Honor knows from your own 18 experience that that's not the way the expert process works.

19 THE COURT: So, but in a case like this, Mr. Levy, and 20 I'll let you continue on. How many loans do your clients have?

21 MR. LEVY: Your Honor, I don't know the exact numbers.
22 I believe that Synovus is something like 5 or 600. In the 23 Primary Capital case the allegation is something like 800. I
24 think it may be more than that, but I don't think it's I 25 don't think it's anything on the order of the HSBC's or UBS's.

1 THE COURT: Sure. So what usually happens in a case
2 like this is that you start talking to the other defendants' 3 counsel, and you join together and agree on an expert who can 4 be retained for more than one lender. It's crazy for everybody 5 to have their own expert.

6 MR. LEVY: That may be, Your Honor. The problem is, 7 though, that, for example, my loan pool may be completely 8 different from somebody else's loan pool.

9 We're geographically limited in one instance. For 10 example, Synovus is only a Southeastern lender. It's a 11 Southeastern originator. It's going to be different from 12 somebody who's originating or selling third-party loans that 13 come from other geographies where the loan experience may be 14 far worse, where the pools may have been comprised of 15 completely different quality loans. So I can't I understand 16 Your Honor's point, but I think the generalization doesn't 17 necessarily hold that an expert suited to one defendant is 18 necessarily going to be suitable to another.

19 THE COURT: You got a lot of lawyers out here 20 representing different lenders, and I think you'll solve this 21 problem.

22 MR. LEVY: We'll do our best, Your Honor. I will say 23 that I think the fourteen-fourteen-fourteen structure puts us 24 in a terrible bind at terrible expense, frontloaded in this 25 case, and it's unfortunate for my clients.

1 I'll make it very clear. My clients just aren't happy 2 campers today.

3 THE COURT: Okay. Anybody else?

4 MR. DOHERTY: John Doherty, Alston & Bird, on behalf
5 of SunTrust. We don't yet have an adversary proceeding number.
6 The case hasn't been docketed. We sort of started with that.

7 I want to talk about and if this is the appropriate 8 time to do it I'm happy to do it now, sort of, we'll all here.

9 THE COURT: Yes. Look. It'll be a day before I get 10 an adversary proceeding number.

11 MR. DOHERTY: Right.

12 THE COURT: I mean it's going to happen.

13 MR. DOHERTY: Understood.

14 THE COURT: And it would be my intention to have this 15 order apply to SunTrust as well. But go ahead.

16 MR. DOHERTY: So let me just talk about that just a 17 little bit.

18 THE COURT: Sure.

19 MR. DOHERTY: Because my case is different. It's 20 different from every other defendant's case that's here. It's 21 different in at least three ways.

22 The first is the plaintiff has already filed, as of 23 right, its amended complaint. So whereas in paragraph 3 of the 24 case management order

25 THE COURT: You're ahead of the game.

1 MR. DOHERTY: Well, they according to the case
2 management order they have a right to file an amended
3 complaint. They've already used that right in the district 4 court. So therefore, as against my client, they don't have 5 that right any longer. So that's one way. If I were to meet 6 and confer with RFC's counsel I would talk to them about that 7 issue. But that's something that should not be in our case 8 management order.

9 The second is I'm the only defendant in the room who's 10 filed not one, but two, motions to dismiss that are currently 11 before Your Honor. Once this case is referred there will be on 12 the docket it's docket number 34 at the district court level 13 a motion to dismiss the amended complaint that's been fully 14 briefed. And Judge Abrams specifically referred that case to 15 Your Honor for disposition.

16 So how do we marry the case management order and the 17 pending motion to dismiss? I would propose that we simply keep 18 the motion pending it be decided. Why do I have to go back and 19 rewrite the motion?

20 THE COURT: You don't.

21 MR. DOHERTY: Okay. Well, that's see, that

22 THE COURT: There's nothing in the order that would 23 make you rewrite the motion.

24 MR. DOHERTY: Right. But according to, I think it's 25 paragraph 4, the setup is there's the omnibus motion, and then

1 each defendant who has a particular issue writes the ten pager.

2 What I'm suggesting is

3 THE COURT: What's the grounds for moving to dismiss?

4 MR. DOHERTY: Well, it's actually multiple grounds.

5 One is a lack of standing, because if you look at the it's 6 very interesting. If you look at the plaintiff in the 7 different cases, sometimes it's RFC. Sometimes it's the 8 Liquidating Trust. Cases filed before December 16th, on or 9 before December 16th, the proper plaintiff is RFC. The plan's 10 effective date is December 17th. They can see that in the 11 complaint. They filed against my client RFC filed against 12 my client on the 17th. The Liquidating Trust was the proper 13 plaintiff on that day.

14 Case law in the Southern District is absolutely clear.
15 That is an incurable defect. The case has to be dismissed.
16 That's the primary basis of the motion. We also have a statute 17 of limitations defense and related defenses.

18 THE COURT: It's an incurable defect? They can't

19 MR. DOHERTY: It is an incurable yes.

20 THE COURT: They can't amend

21 MR. DOHERTY: No.

22 THE COURT: to name the Trust as the plaintiff?

23 MR. DOHERTY: No. Case law is absolutely clear on 24 that.

25 THE COURT: All right. We'll see.

1 MR. DOHERTY: Absolutely clear.

2 THE COURT: I don't want to

3 MR. DOHERTY: I know.

4 THE COURT: I don't want to hear your motion today.

5 MR. DOHERTY: I understand.

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 MR. DOHERTY: But

8 THE COURT: This is the case management order.

9 MR. DOHERTY: Exactly.

10 THE COURT: It's going to apply to your case.

11 MR. DOHERTY: Understood. I guess the third thing is 12 we have pursuant the district court ordered, right at the 13 beginning of the case in December, ordered plaintiff and 14 defendant to submit a proposed case management order. Which we 15 did. Which we have, which we've agreed to.

16 THE COURT: It isn't happening. It's this

17 MR. DOHERTY: No, I understand.

18 THE COURT: My court. My case. My case management 19 order.

20 MR. DOHERTY: No, I understand.

21 THE COURT: I have respect for Judge Abrams. It isn't 22 her order that's going to apply.

23 MR. DOHERTY: But

24 THE COURT: I am trying to basically coordinate 25 sixteen, about to be seventeen, cases

1 MR. DOHERTY: No. I

2 THE COURT: in this court.

3 MR. DOHERTY: And that I understand. But I just want 4 to make the point that up until roughly seven business

5 THE COURT: What mileage are you getting out of making 6 the point that Judge Abrams had proposed a case management 7 order?

8 MR. DOHERTY: I just want I'm going to compare and 9 contrast, just for a moment. As of 10 THE COURT: I don't want to hear it.

11 MR. DOHERTY: As of 12 THE COURT: I don't.

13 MR. DOHERTY: Okay.

14 THE COURT: Look, I am managing the cases on my 15 docket.

16 MR. DOHERTY: Right.

17 THE COURT: By tomorrow or the day after your case 18 will be one of the cases on my docket. The cases are going to 19 be following a parallel track, okay? That's why I'm entering a 20 case management order that applies to all of them.

21 MR. DOHERTY: Right.

22 THE COURT: Okay?

23 MR. DOHERTY: My final comment, and the reason I 24 mentioned it is because up until roughly ten days ago I was in 25 the district court. There was a stay of discovery. And all

1 and I'm going to I'm just going to, you know, again

2 THE COURT: This is falling on deaf ears. I don't 3 stay discovery pending motions to dismiss.

4 MR. DOHERTY: No, no, no. I understand. No, I 5 understand.

6 THE COURT: This is going to be the case management 7 order. It's going to apply as soon as your case hits the 8 docket. I'm going to enter an order in your case making this 9 case management order applicable to your case. If you're not 10 happy with it I'm sorry, but that's the way it goes.

11 MR. DOHERTY: Okay. What about the issue in terms of 12 the amendment as of right?

13 THE COURT: I don't have any issue before me at the 14 present time.

15 MR. DOHERTY: Okay.

16 THE COURT: Mr. Nesser, are you proposing to 17 I'm not so sure about this issue as to whether you 18 absolutely can't amend to name the Trust as the plaintiff, but 19 we'll have to deal with that when the time comes.

20 MR. NESSER: Your Honor, the case management order, as 21 we drafted the proposed case management order, as we drafted 22 it and as it's been submitted to Your Honor without objection
23 from any party, as far as I

24 THE COURT: Well

25 MR. NESSER: as far as I understand

1 THE COURT: It's objected to now.

2 MR. NESSER: in this respect provides that we are 3 permitted to file amended complaints in all of the actions, and 4 that would include SunTrust. And we think that makes sense 5 because

6 THE COURT: Look, I'm going to cut this short, because 7 whether the amendment whether you amend whether the 8 amendment works or it doesn't, if you came to me next week, if 9 that paragraph wasn't in there, and you asked this early in the 10 case for leave to amend, I would grant it, okay? Nobody's 11 prejudiced by anything. You think SunTrust is prejudiced?
12 I'll hear about it. You'll move to dismiss the amended 13 complaint because it couldn't be filed. But I'm not changing 14 this paragraph. You'll decide what you're going to do, Mr.
15 Nesser, okay?

16 MR. DOHERTY: Thank you.

17 THE COURT: This paragraph is remaining.

18 MR. NESSER: Thank you, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Anybody else wish to be heard?

20 Mr. Levy?

21 MR. LEVY: I want to raise just one very small 22 housekeeping matter. In paragraph 2 of the docket, something I
23 didn't notice until I

24 THE COURT: Of the docket or of the draft?

25 MR. LEVY: Excuse me. Of the proposed order.

1 THE COURT: Yes.

2 MR. LEVY: Something I didn't notice until Your Honor 3 was explaining the changes on the lead docket's suggestion.

4 I rise to this point because I'm involved in the 5 Madoff case where there are thousands of actions in front of 6 Judge Bernstein, and he's created a requirement for a single 7 docket filing.

8 As I read the order, it says any filing affecting two 9 or more of the captioned adversaries shall be filed in the 10 original docket and in the master docket. If it's not involved 11 in the individual case it doesn't get filed on the master 12 docket. Is that Your Honor's intention?

13 THE COURT: Wait, wait, wait.

14 MR. LEVY: Because if that's the case

15 THE COURT: If it involves two or more then the only 16 place you have to file it is in this central docket. There's 17 going to be a link, okay? I checked. I went over this with 18 the clerk to make sure it was going to you have to list both 19 captions on the pleading.

20 MR. LEVY: Because my suggestion, Your Honor, was 21 going to be that what Judge Bernstein does and what Judge 22 Rakoff did in the district court is every filing in every 23 affected adversary proceeding, whether it was one affecting 24 one or several adversary proceedings was filed in the master 25 case, so everybody got immediate notice of what was happening

1 in all the other proceedings.

2 THE COURT: This is what's going to be, Mr. Levy.

3 MR. NESSER: Thank you, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Anybody else want to be heard?

5 So, Mr. Nesser, I'm going to stick with the fourteen 6 on the sampling, fourteen-fourteen-fourteen. I'm uneasy, okay?
7 I'm uneasy about it. And I said that, I think, even before we 8 started, when I said I did this fourteen-fourteen-fourteen.

9 I don't want to go through an empty exercise. I'm 10 concerned that you're not going to be able to provide each 11 defendant whom you propose sampling with enough information 12 that the defendant, in consultation with its own expert, is 13 going to be able to give you an intelligent response. And I 14 don't want to rope-a-dope, you know, we need every piece of 15 paper that ever existed with respect to every loan. But I'm 16 concerned, okay? And I don't want you really think you're 17 going to be able to carry this off?

18 MR. NESSER: We do, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: We'll see.

20 MR. NESSER: We will, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Just bear with me.

22 (Pause)

23 THE COURT: Well, I'm thinking this order's going to 24 be entered tomorrow. Forty-two days from tomorrow is August 25 27th. Tuesday August 26th is a ResCap omnibus hearing date.

1 I'm going to schedule a case management scheduling 2 conference for 11 a.m. on August 26th with respect to these 3 adversary proceedings, principally to discuss sampling. If 4 there are other issues that have to come up they will, but I
5 want to see where you are. It's the day before the deadline 6 for, you know, it's forty-one days in, and it is an omnibus 7 day.

8 By the way, I'm also scheduling a case management 9 conference for October 14th at 10 a.m. What I try to do is try 10 and stay on top of cases and monitor what issues are coming up 11 along the way, hence the October 14th date, but we'll have a 12 conference at 11 o'clock. The ResCap omnibus is at 10, and I 13 don't know what's going to be on that or not, but we'll set 14 this for 11 o'clock. Hopefully you won't have to wait very 15 long.

16 On August 26th sampling methodologies is front and 17 center. If there are other issues people want to raise I guess 18 what I would ask is that by 5 p.m. Wednesday, August 20th send 19 me a status letter that includes any issues that any of the 20 counsel propose for discussion on August 26th. Any of the 21 defendants' counsel who have an issue they want raised, give it 22 to Mr. Nesser. Let me get a single letter. He doesn't have to 23 elaborate, but just so I know what items are going to be 24 discussed. So let Mr. Nesser know what, if anything, you want 25 discussed.

1 Okay. I mean, I don't think I've heard anything from 2 any of the counsel today objecting to what I'm proposing that I 3 wasn't concerned about before with respect to sampling. But if 4 you want to move this along with this proposed speed you and 5 your colleagues have a lot of work to do. I'm willing to move 6 it quickly, and I want to move it quickly, but the defendants 7 are entitled to a fair opportunity to either argue no sample, 8 or that the methodology proposed is inappropriate, or they 9 haven't given us enough information to be able to respond to 10 it. Okay.

11 MR. NESSER: Yes, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Okay. Anything else anybody else wants to 13 All right. So this order should be entered tomorrow.

14 I think I've covered whatever changes I made. And it is my 15 intention to e-mail a copy to the judges in Minnesota. I hope 16 I'm not offending any of them by putting this schedule 17 together. If it was one or two judges I would have just picked 18 up the phone and see if we could work it out, but there's just 19 too many to try and do it. But I want to make clear if I hear 20 back they think some different schedule should apply I may be 21 persuaded, and we may wind up altering it. I don't think it'll 22 be shortened, but it could be that things would get lengthened.

23 Mr. Levy, is there something else you wanted to add?

24 MR. LEVY: Yes, Your Honor. I just wanted to say I 25 understand the Court's going to enter the case management

1 order. I want to make clear, on behalf of my clients, that we 2 think we're different. We're entitled to a separate trial. We 3 believe we should be treated separately.

4 THE COURT: Who's talking about trial?

5 MR. LEVY: Excuse me. Separate we believe we're 6 entitled to proceedings that are separate to us. I'm simply 7 stating it for the record on behalf of my clients.

8 THE COURT: Okay. You've made your point. Anybody 9 else want to be heard?

10 Okay. Thank you very much. And I really do 11 appreciate the effort that went into getting this to the point 12 where it is.
